Hi Mum,

We had a few problems getting through the main gates. The owners of the caravan that we've rented told us that they 04 a key for us at reception, but when we arrived, reception was closed and there was no-one there. We had to phone the owners and ask them where 05 the key. In the end, someone from the shop helped us get into reception and pick up the key.

Well, the caravan park is very different 06 how I remember it. Since the last time we 07 here, it has doubled in size! A new swimming pool 08 , and there is also another bar. I wish I had known about that when I booked the caravan. We're really close to it and it is 09 noisy that I don't think I will sleep well tonight. I 10 better buy some earplugs when I get the chance, otherwise I'm going to be very grumpy this trip.

Take care,

Love from Susie

Agatha Mary Clarissa Christie is possibly the world's most famous detective story writer. She wrote 79 novels and several plays. Her sales outnumber those of William Shakespeare. However, behind her 4,680,000 words was a painfully shy woman whose life was often lonely and unhappy. She was born in 1890 in Devon, the third child of Clarissa and Frederick Miller, and grew into a beautiful and sensitive girl with waist-length golden hair. She didn't go to school but was educated at home by her mother. Her father died when she was 11 and both she and her mother were grief-stricken. During World War 1, while she was working in a hospital dispensary, she learned about chemicals and poisons, which proved to be very useful to her in her later career. She wrote her first detective novel, The Mysterious Affair at Styles, in 1920. In it she introduced Hercule Poirot, the Belgian detective who appeared in many subsequent novels. Her other main detective was an elderly spinster called Miss Marple.
